

International School of Art Institute[®]

MISSION STATEMENT

The goal of the International School of Art Institute is to help artists prepare for the grim realities of the “art world” that exist in the 21st century. The International School of Art Institute will help motivated creative individuals build their own artwork, ideas, scenes, support systems, patrons, and viewers: independent of what is offered through conventional art educational models. Through traditional art classes held at brick and mortar colleges, as well as workshops held internationally and courses/video tutorials online, the IASI student will have access to tools and networks to be successful in their pursuits. These tools will be free or low cost and available without restriction for students from all walks of life.

The International School of Art Institute is a school without walls for art without boundaries.
